A Word From me!

You can only date women you have access to. You cannot date a woman you have never met or cannot meet.

I find many men are demotivated to approach women because most of the women they run into are not the kind of woman they seek.

In this book I will show you different places to meet women but more importantly I will try to cause a shift in your thinking that will transform you from an average man to a lover.

I find that men who are good with women usually think and behave different than men who struggle with women.

And this is the direction I hope you take after reading this book.

I am not going to teach you how to become a man women want and how to flirt with women and make them like you – in this book.

That is a whole different topic and if you want to learn ways to make women fall in love with you then get the Attraction Bible here: <http://www.attractionmethods.com/attraction-bible>

In this book I am only going to give you ideas where to meet women and some information on the dynamics that will help you in those settings.

My idea with this book is not only to hand you some great venues to meet women but also give you insight as to what works in those venues.

Should You Approach Women

Most men are confused if it is ok to approach women. After sleeping with over 400 women I can tell you with guarantee that women love to be approached and seduced but they want it from the man they like and in a manner that appeals to them.

Women are biological beings. Emotions and chemicals govern them just like they govern you.

Women crave love, intimacy and sex just like you.

They like to be in the arms of a man, they like to be loved and pleased by a man.

The reason I am successful with women is because approaching women and establishing relationship with them is a “Natural Phenomenon” to me.

Every woman has a strong sexual side to her but she rarely exposes it to men. You only get to see this side once she is sexually aroused in your presence. It is at this point that she will stop acting proper and let go of her sexual inhibitions.

When I approach women I do not interact with the front they put up. I talk to the real person they are - the one with the deep desire to be taken by a man and ravished all night.

Women love losing control and be taken by men. Any man who can make women feel this way will never struggle with women.

If you have already experienced this then you know what I am talking about if not then you really must spend some time learning about deep female desires. It will help you see women for who they are and you will be able to speak the language that will work on them.

What I am saying works not only for me but also for every other man who discovers this and learns to talk to women using this knowledge. There is a reason why so many of my clients get success with women within weeks of training as you can see it here:

<http://www.attractionmethods.com/testimonials/>

My clients succeed fast because when they come to my workshop I clear all the garbage in their mind and show them who women really are plus the best way to interact with them.

Once they see this side of women they understand that approaching women and seducing them is the only NATURAL thing to do. Once this transformation happens they become good at communicating with women using SECRET SEXUAL CODES and everything changes.

Bottom line women want to be approached and seduced by men so learn the right way of doing this and join the club of limited men who are true lovers that every woman desires.

Where To Meet Women

When we think of places to go to meet women bars and nightclubs are the first places that come to mind.

But when you go to bars to meet women you have a very limited choice. You have no control over who shows up the night you go out. The only women who show up are the only choices you have.

Bars are definitely one place to meet women but if that is the only place you go then you deprive yourself the opportunity to meet great women outside of bars.

Ever Wondered Why People Go To IVY League Schools? They don't go there for special knowledge but for networking.

Dating is similar to networking. You need to go to venues where you can meet the type of woman you are looking for.

Like I said you cannot date a woman you have never met or know she exists.

The idea with this book is to exponentially expand your options with women. So you can meet lots of women with ease until you find that special woman who means everything to you – the one you cannot stay without! Yes it happens I am living proof to that!

In this book I will give you a list of places and best approach to meet women in those places.

You will still need to learn how to flirt with women, how to win them with your interaction and how to make relationships work. I will share a little bit of that here but for organization sake I will limit this book to places to meet women and strategies that work best in those places.

So lets get started with our first place to meet women.

Bars

Bars are a great venue to meet women. But more importantly I like bars for the hot bartenders and servers who work there.

Bar's are little different than most places. Most women are aware that men will approach them.

Bars are great to meet women for Instant Sex. I find generally it is better to get sexual first with women you meet at bars and then initiate relationship. This is what worked for me. I have many clients who ended up marrying the woman with whom they had a one-night stand.

Hotel lounges are one of the best places to meet women for a one-night stand. You will discover later in the book why it works better.

In addition you can choose the nights and neighborhoods to increase the odds of meeting the kind of women you like:

In general hotel lounge has more businesswomen.

Bars around colleges will be full of younger women.

Monday and Tuesday nights are great to meet women who are hairstylists, servers and bartenders because those are the nights they go out.

Depending on the type of woman you are interested in, you can choose the venue and day you want to visit.

How To Prepare For Bars –

Your first impression is the most important thing when you go out to meet women in bars.

Your fashion, body language, grooming, state of energy and facial expressions will largely determine how open women are to interact with you.

Most women can decide within the first few seconds whether they would sleep with you or not. Everything afterward is to see if you guys will actually get along or not or if you can keep up her expectations based on your first impression.

This is why it is very important that you put good thought in your first impression.

Your first impression should be a good indicator of who you are, what lifestyle you live and what she can expect in relationship with you.

Fashion

As a general rule the more down to earth, classy and well-fitted clothes you wear the easier women will feel to interact with you. The more flashy and player you look the harder it will be for her to connect and trust you.

It is ok to have an interesting piece on you if you enjoy it. You can wear colors if you like them and if you can pull them.

Get a good haircut and shave or maintain your beard. Shower before you head out and make sure to smell good.

When women look at you they should feel:

1. This guy looks ok and I can speak with him.

or

2. This guy is sexy and I can see myself fucking him.

Either of these impressions will give you a start. You can then generate sexual attraction with your interaction.

State Of Energy

I used to be a low energy and shy guy when I first started going out to meet women.

I used to feel tired in the evening and did not want to talk to anyone when I went out. I would sit in a corner, drink and grow frustrated watching others having fun.

People would look at me and wonder why I was sad and angry.

I changed this by starting to have a shower right before leaving my house. I changed my taste in music and started listening high-energy music in the evening before going out.

By the time I left my house I felt energetic and was usually whistling the song.

This put me in good state of energy. I had a smile on my face.

Interestingly most nights someone started a conversation with me even before I started.

You may have similar bad habits that are putting women off.

Exercise:

Write down a list of thing you experience when you go out and find a routine/technique to overcome any negative behavior.

Example: Problem: I feel tired and dull - Solution: Take shower, listen to hard rock or drink caffeine before leaving the house.

Seduction Strategy For Women You Meet At The Bar

I do not like taking empty chances. I do a little extra work to ensure that when I approach a woman she will 100% talk to me.

Most men think that flashing their wealth, status and success makes them appealing to women! This is the biggest mistake you can make.

Everything I do around women is to let them know that unlike other men I am cool, sexual, and the only man who is right for them. When other men are busy showing off and bragging I am making eye contact and smiling to let them know that I am hunting for flesh.

I do not want the woman to be impressed by my wealth or success I want her to be seduced and turned on by my desire to get her naked.

So I use sexual signals to convey my real intentions to her.

Women find these sexual advances very attractive. They recognize that your socializing is simply a ploy to attract her and seduce her.

Women cannot resist this combination in a man. Something changes in them when they know a man desires to be with them and is not ashamed about their intention. It awakens the dirty beast in them that they like to hide until they are in a very comfortable relationship with a man.

99% of men have no clue how to use these lust triggers to get women sexually excited. And this puts you at a major advantage.

Once women find you as the best possible option their behavior completely changes towards you. They act nice, flirtatious and sexual. They step out of their comfort zone and do whatever it takes to be with you. Now you are in control and do whatever you want.

When I go to a bar I start interacting with people right away. I have a strong first impression as a result of my walk, eye contact, energy and fashion and so I have no problem getting entry into any group. (You must definitely work on this. If you have strong first impression you will have women signaling you to talk to them even approach you.)

If I do not find someone interesting then there is always the bartender, bouncer and servers.

I do this to stand apart from rest of the men who stand quiet in a corner or stick to their limited circle. A big part of this game is that women want the BEST POSSIBLE OPTION for themselves in that moment. Your competition is not Brad Pitt but the guy in the same room as you. As long as you can present yourself as a better option than other men in the room women will notice you. This principal works no matter what venue you meet women at.

I get noticed as a social person when I talk to random people. This stands me apart from other men. I can change my pitch to get noticed by women when I want.

Women find this very appealing in men.

It also makes it easy for them to approach me. The thing is women do not want to appear desperate by approaching a man but it is totally ok to approach a social guy for socializing.

I also continue to make eye contact with women while I am talking to other people. Any woman who holds eye contact 2-3 times with me is definitely into me. I will not rush to her but gradually make my way to her. I have even had eye contacts that lasted over hour before we started talking.

Now just because a woman did not make eye contact with me does not mean I cannot talk to her or that she is not into me.

Sometimes they are shy, sometimes they are engaged in conversation and sometimes you just caught them off guard and they felt a little awkward at first. Give them few minutes and try again or just approach.

Bachelorette party and Birthday Celebrations are great to get loud and get noticed. You can approach and hug the woman who is getting married or has birthday.

Ask her how you met her man and say you want the whole story. Women love sharing that.

Then ask her if her friends are taking her to strip club. I ask this to women who are getting married and also who have their birthdays.

Women love to go to strip clubs but usually lack a good reason. If anything they definitely love to talk about it. So look at her friends and say you go get her wasted and get her a lap dance.

This allows you to engage her friends. You now are the cool guy they want to talk to. At the same time other women notice you for bringing up the energy of the group.

But most importantly you are opening women up sexually in a manner they love and do not resist. It gets you popular with the group of women you are talking to. All the bridesmaid will want to get close to you because you are a hit among them and also a sexual beast by nature.

Remember women are shy by nature or at least pretend to be when they meet a man for the first time. Any man who leads them out of their state comes off as superior to them.

Sometimes these women (birthday groups/bachelorette party) are playing games and be prepared for them. I have had women asking me for my underwear. Of course I made sure they give me a hand job in exchange.

A woman wanted my phone number as part of their game and I made sure to write it on her breast in front of everyone at a popular bar in Miami.

I do not have to tell you what women did to me that night.

The basic idea is to stand apart from other men when a woman first looks at you. Then stand apart again when you first talk to her. This makes you valuable and she will engage you. This will get you the entry and all the time you need to seduce her using T.E.A.S.E.

It is very easy to become this man. The strategies I am giving you will help a lot to accomplish this for you. And if you have any trouble you can always come to one of my workshops and I will personally make it happen for you. Once you reach this stage there is absolutely no turning back. You will always have women chasing you and offering sexual favors just to be with you.

Psychology To Approach Attractive Women

Don't be intimidated by good-looking women. Here is SECRET that less than 1% of men know: Good-looking women are more pleasant and easy to talk to.

Most men falsely assume that good-looking women get approached all the time. Truth is that good-looking women hardly get approached.

Almost every man talks himself out of approaching a good-looking woman thinking she is out his league. Most good-looking women are dying to be approached by men. They crave for some man to be not intimidated by their looks and interact boldly with them. The minute you approach them they automatically put you in confident man category for having the balls to approach them.

A perfect example is Jimmy Fallon interview with Nicole Kidman. Where Nicole confessed she was attracted to him but he never made a move because he thought she was out of his league. If you have not already then watch this video here:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qtsNbxgPngA>

I cannot tell you how many good looking women tell me they wish men would approach them.

These women crave for a man who can treat them like women. They crave for a man to take them and just use them for pleasure. REMEMBER this very important rule: Men get turned on by idea of making love women get turned on by idea of being made love too.

If you understand this one rule and base your interaction on this – you will have women begging to be with you. They will show you their sexual sides and desires that they will never share with anyone.

So stop treating them special because of their look instead appeal to the female inside them who is waiting for a man to seduce her, get her naked and gain pleasure from her body.

Establish sexual chemistry then add feelings of love. This creates a whole different level of connection between you and the woman.

Every weekend I take my clients out and make sure they approach the hottest women in bars to break their misconception that good-looking women are out of their league. They experience it first hand how easy it is to seduce an attractive woman.

So take my advice and start approaching attractive women, you'll be glad you listened to me.

Exercise:

- Make eye contact with 5 ATTRACTIVE women everyday – the ones you think are out of your league.
- Approach and make small talks with 2 women everyday for a week that you think are really pretty. You could start by asking time and direction. This will get you used to approaching attractive women then gradually move on to asking where they are from or complimenting them. Make sure to maintain eye contact every single time.
- What can you talk about in your conversation that makes conversation romantic or sexual without being creepy?

Ex: You could say something like your dress reminds of this friend of mine she loved blue color. She had a theory that blue makes women appear more sexual to men. I used to laugh at that. She is a real sweet friend. I do agree colors bring out sexuality but I think your personality is more important. What do you think makes someone sexually attractive?

Generating Feeling In Women

I care less about the topic of conversation and focus more on how I want them to feel after talking to me.

I want women to like me, feel safe around me, feel valued and sexually turned on in my presence. I want their friends to like me. Bottom line I want my woman to be convinced that I am the man she needs to be with.

So you can talk about anything but embed elements to accomplish the above.

For example if she says she is an accountant you can reply, “It is truly refreshing to meet a woman who has head on her shoulders. Almost every other woman here is a model which is cool but gets boring after a while”. I say this to women in LA all the time.

This comment is to make her feel valued.

But more importantly keep looking in her eyes when you say that. It is not just the compliment that melts her - your eye contact is what starts to activate feeling of attraction in her towards you.

Watch this video on how I make eye contact to generate attraction:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=eyo0Gq22eCc>

Once you have this interaction going on continue to touch her more and more and keep making eye contact.

Then look for opportunities to make her feel safe, make her feel connected, give her a preview of what relationship will look like with you and continue to turn her on sexually.

If you execute the above as I told you - you will have great success and lot of fun meeting women at bars and taking them home for out of this world sex.

If you need specific conversation pieces then download my Attraction Bible and you will get specifics things to say and do around women that will allow you to carry conversation and make them like you. You can learn many great tips and techniques from this system to meet women and build instant sexual chemistry that leads to fast sex. You can get it here: <http://www.attractionmethods.com/attraction-bible/>

Exercise:

- How can you make a woman feel seduced? Meaning what kind of things can you do to make a woman feel seduced and turned on.

Example: Eye contact, touching and distance etc. Watch T.E.A.S.E. videos that come with Attraction Bible to learn this.

Seduction Strategy For Women Who Work At A Bar

I personally love women who work as bartenders.

Most bars and hotels hire attractive women for work. They are in great shape. There is a certain type of personality that works for these jobs. Most women who are bartenders are sexual beasts in bed. They are pretty much part of an industry that survives on sex.

Getting them to date you is NOT hard just a little different.

Here are the 3 steps to dating them:

Stand Apart from Other men

The first step to attracting a bartender is to stand apart from other men. You do this by being polite to her and the staff. Become friends with them and have small talks.

Bartenders usually get two types of clients: one who is drunk and hitting on them and second that treats them like shit. You want to be the cool guy who treats them nice and is friendly to them. This will make them drop their guards and you will be able to form a connection. Else they will treat you like a customer and nothing personal will happen.

I often give them compliment in comparison to other bartenders. At times I will mention how I overheard someone say good thing about them.

The warmer they feel around you the more they will connect with you.

You should also talk to other people to come off as a social guy.

It always helps to flirt with women in front of them. Also bring all your female friends and date to the same bar as often as you can.

This puts you in the category of men who are desired by women and makes you desirable.

You now stand apart from other men and they will take a note of this.

Exercise:

- What can you do to stand apart from other men?

Making Them To Like You

I make bartenders to like me by making them see me as a sexually active guy who is desired by other women. Bartenders get hit on all the times. So another guy hitting on them is no big deal. What really gets their attention is a guy who is desired by women is interested in them.

Also women who work at bars have silent competition with other women who work there. It is all about who is the hottest and who is dating the best man. You can use this to your advantage by being friendly and a little flirtatious with every woman who works there.

Many men understand this concept but they go about it in a wrong manner. They try to stand apart by positioning as rich men. Understand that you are dealing with young and sexually active women. Most of these young women are still looking for wild guy over rich guy so using wealth to stand apart will not work too well. Bartenders are used to men pretending to be rich and they rarely fall for this angle.

The best strategy is to sit around them when the bar is less busy and talk about some cool stuff. I love to sit with my female friends and discuss sex. Women love participating in this discussion.

Engage her in your conversations whenever possible. You can always ask her to pitch her opinion or even accuse her playfully of being a bad girl.

This is also an opportunity for to share stuff about you that can peak her interest in you.

I made a mistake one time of sleeping with my friend's girlfriend. I felt horrible about it. I was sitting and discussing this with my friend and the bartender overheard it. She said don't feel bad I have also made the mistake of cheating on my boyfriend. We all make mistakes. This conversation was the reason we hooked up that night.

Exercise:

- Make a list of 3 things you can say to make bartenders/servers like you.
- Make a list of 3 things of sexual nature that you can say around bartenders and get them to participate.

Connecting With Them

Be nice to her colleagues and engage them in conversation as well. Pay them compliments. Team with them to make fun of the bartender you like.

Help them network if you ever see an opportunity and introduce them to your friends if they are single.

You will now become one of them and they will like you.

Not only will this increase your odds of getting the bartender you like but through them you will be invited to cool underground parties. Other women at the bar will get close to you because of your relation with bartenders.

Oh and did I mention that bartenders are great at playing cupid.

Exercise:

- Make a list of 3 things you can say/do to connect with bartenders

Generating Attraction

Everything I listed until now will only get you their friendship. You need to execute additional elements to generate attraction towards the woman you like.

Make extended eye contact with her every opportunity you get. Generate emotions in her for you. You do this by flirting with her and flirting with other women in front of her. In addition tease her and touch her.

If you execute these steps like I show them in T.E.A.S.E. system you will have this woman dying to be in relationship with you.

Your first step was to connect with her and her colleagues. To become desirable to her by being playful and being liked by her colleagues now that she likes you - you need to activate the lust triggers in her.

Then all you have to do is ask her out and start a relation.

Exercise:

- Make a list of things you can do to generate sexual tension.

- If there is a woman you already like and talk to visualize how you can inject this in your next conversation. (Remember you are not used to flirting naturally. These drills will start training your brain to see opportunities and inject flirting elements when possible. This is the only way you will develop your skills and become natural around women).
- Think about female friends and colleagues you can take to this bar. Got a date from online site – take her to this venue.

Restaurant For Servers

Restaurant is very similar to bars except there is no need for the slow approach.

Usually when I like my server I make sure I am polite to her. Then I ask her questions about her life outside of restaurant. Make her feel special about her choice.

Sometimes I even tell her about my ex girlfriend who was a server. This is to let her know that she is my type and other women like her find me desirable. I continue to make strong eye contact with her.

Then all I have to do is ask her out.

Sometimes I also offer to help her network before I ask her out. At times I bring other women there if I know she will be working. I also become friends with her boss but only if it is convenient.

From my experience fast approach to generating some attraction and asking her out works pretty well.

Work Place

Workplace is a great venue to meet women. The good thing is you already have a little familiarity with the woman and access to her on regular basis. This makes it easy to strategize and date the one you like. There are two different types of women you could go after, at your workplace: the boss and one of your colleagues.

Your Boss

It is really easy to date your boss. I know it hard to believe but trust me on this one. I have done this many-many times.

If you have a female boss that you find is the right woman for you then don't hesitate and take action to make her yours. Stop seeing her as your boss and start seeing her as a woman. Think of ways to appeal to her female emotions and you will have good results.

Most men in your office will not have the courage to flirt with her. This instantly puts you at an advantage. All you have to do is make eye contact, keep close distance, spend a lot of time together and finally ask her out.

A great strategy is to work extra hours with your boss after regular hours. This gives you the opportunity to get close to her and get personal with her. Your objective is not just to work but to create a personal bond.

As with most social settings make her like you and get her to become comfortable with you before you start seduction.

This does not mean you need to hold on to flirting.

You can still make extended eye contact, stand close to her and even bump into her occasionally. One of my ex boss used to do that to me. She would bump into me, as we would walk out for lunch or coffee. We would be walking next to each other and during this walk she would gently swing to my direction for an accidental bump.

It is accidental so no one can object but our body receptors always respond to touch. I was never attracted to my boss until she started touching me this way. Soon I started to get turned on in her company and started to desire sex with her.

You see your boss probably does not see you as a potential mate and has no sexual feelings for you yet. This action will allow her to experience sexual feelings around you and she will begin to see you as a potential mate. It is only after you generate sexual feelings in her that you can lead her into dating you.

So use this strategy to make her develop sexual feelings for you without ever objecting or resisting your moves.

There are few extra things that can give you power over your boss.

I used to work for this woman and often times I would fight her battles for her. For example if she ever came looking tired or felt overwhelmed I would ask her to shut her office door and tell her that I will make sure no one disturbs her. I would then tell the staff to not disturb her and tell receptionist to fend off all calls for her. I would even ask if everything was ok or if she needed to talk. At first she would say everything is ok then she gradually started opening up to me.

I became the man who rescued her every time. I was the guy who took her out and made her feel better. But I was also flirting, making eye contact and doing my accidental bumps. She started depending on me. She started thanking me with long hugs. We added long eye contact with ever hug. Soon we were spending time together and kissing.

Then there was this woman. I was super friendly to her bosses. As a result she always valued me. At times I would even talk to her boss to help her with her work struggles. Gradually there was a shift in balance and she started to see me as an extra ordinary man and developed feelings for me.

Basically the idea with your boss is to make her see you as a superior man as opposed to an employee who works under her.

At the same time we want her to experience sexual feelings for us and see us a potential mate.

Once this happens she will give you all the clues to make relationship happen.

Exercise:

Do you have a boss you would like to date?

How can you change your status around her? What type of things can you do to be the one who protects her and is superior to her?

How can you get to spend 1 on 1 time with her?

Write down 3 things you can do generate sexual feeling in her without being obvious to her.

Your Colleagues

When it comes to colleagues it is a bit easier. You don't have to get pass hierarchy difference. Things are more likely to become personal.

Lunch and coffee breaks are excellent opportunities to break the ice and get to know someone. Of course, meaningful things will happen only outside the office.

The first step obviously is to get noticed by her and get her to like you.

By now you know how to stand apart, get noticed and make women to like you. So act on that.

What I find in office environments is that either all men show interest in that one woman or no one does. So if the company is generally relaxed on their attitude about dating then most men are flirting and hitting on co-workers. Usually there are only a handful of attractive women who get hit on by most colleagues.

In this case be the opposite.

Don't rush to ask her out or flirt with her, else you will be the next guy who is chasing her. Instead flirt and spend time with other women in her presence.

I used to work in this office. Everyone including my boss wanted to sleep with this girl.

I first made her like me. In addition I started taking smoke breaks and lunch breaks with other women. Whenever she asked me to take break with her I made an excuse but then left with other women. She could not take it that I was not interested in her and went out of her way to sleep with me.

Then there was this woman who slept with me only because I was close to all hire ups. She could not understand how an average guy like me had so much power to make all hire ups stop by, socialize with me and hang out outside of the office. My secret: I stopped by their office every couple days to make small talks and brought them coffee from time to time. I used same mindset as seducing my boss.

In another office I had female friends helping me with my dating life. They would select what woman I contact online for dating. Women love helping men with their dating problems. As a result I had lot of women approaching me and hanging out with me. The end result was that I came across as a popular man that women wanted to be with and it got me lot of women.

The best part is that women see you are not into them they open up and engage into deep emotional conversations with you. This is prime opportunity to plant sexual feeling in them.

For example if a woman says her date did not go well, I'd respond by saying his loss! You are so sexy – if it were me you would be naked for weeks before I let get out of my bed.

If she talked about being single I would say I can't believe what is wrong with men. If you were not my friend – you would have no clothes on you every time I would be around you. Basically we would have no life outside of sex.

The idea here is to engage her in a sexual dialogue with you. Give her a trailer that if she were to date you she could have a fulfilling sex/love life. This starts to plant sexual desire in her for you.

Then inject sexual escalation and you will always get the woman you want.

If your office is little strict on dating then you probably work for an establishment like Google. I love visiting Google office. There are hundreds of attractive women and no guy ever approaches them.

Here is the secret you do not have to be obvious and approach them to date you.

You can start by making eye contact or even make small talks during lunch hour. You can even visit them during work hours and have a business chat.

You can then continue to make small chats and build friendship.

Then you can either make plans with few office colleagues to do something and invite her or just make plans to hangout casually after work.

Then again all you have to do is escalate sexually and voila.

In social setting like this where you risk losing your job, becoming friends is the best and the fastest way to get a girl you like.

I know there is a popular myth that you cannot date or sleep with a woman once she becomes your friend. This is total crap. I will tell you that the easiest woman to sleep with is the one who is already your friend. Think about it: you already have a connection with her, she trusts you and you guys spend time together. The only thing missing is sexual tension which you can easily bring in using the T.E.A.S.E. system.

I have a great system that I personally use to meet and sleep with women - 99% of the time. I call it "Ultimate Dating System". This system teaches you in detail: how to meet women at different venues, become friends with them and transition into romantic and sexual relationship. It is a 9-hour long program so I cannot sum it in 2 sentences. If there is one and only one program you will watch then choose this and your dating skills will improve by light years. I highly recommend you go through this system and you will instantly start turning your female friends into lovers.

Exercise:

Do you have a female colleague you would like to date?

Are you already in touch with her? If not how can you initiate conversation with her without breaking protocols?

Does she think good of you? If not write down 3-4 things you can do to change her impression of you.

Are you friends with your boss and other female workers? If not who can you start becoming friends and what steps do you need to take?

How can you ask her out to do activity with you?

What can you do to generate sexual tension?

Shopping Mall

Women Who Work At Mall

I love going to the malls. I know that majority of stores will have attractive females working for them and this gives me a great opportunity to meet and date attractive women.

Dating women who work at the Mall should be easy enough for you. Women working in retail will initiate flirting with all customers in order to enhance sales, but this doesn't mean they could not be authentic.

But there is a lot you can do to improve your odds.

See most women who work there are young. They live in a complete different world than you and I. Most of them want to enjoy their time, go to parties and make new friends.

So when you approach, make sure they see the young attitude in you and see that you enjoy the party/going out scene.

Tell them you are new in town and looking for cool venues to go to. Ask her where she goes. Then ask her when she'll go next. Ask her to go with you sometime and exchange numbers.

I have done this many times even if she has seen me before. One time a woman called me on it saying I see you here very often. I smiled and responded can you stop making it hard for me to take you out. Of course I know the area this is my way of taking you out.

One time I even confessed when we went out the first time. I said something like: Of course I know the area, just wanted to ask you out – yeah I am smooth. She smiled and things instantly changed.

What I am telling you is that if they ever try to call you on your actions don't get defensive. Be a man and admit you want to take them out. Most men do not have the courage stand tall and admit to a woman they like her. Women find this very complimentary and refreshing. The best part most women do not know how to respond to this because this never happens to them.

You could also present yourself as someone who knows the scene and then invite her to a great party/venue you know of.

And don't be afraid to have the same conversation with guys who work there. I have made some great friends by asking them where they hang out then going out with them. This instantly builds your social circle and gives you access to a pool of young-hot women.

It's also easy to start a conversation and ask for help from her. If you feel the slightest connection you should ask them on a small ad-hoc date, like a cup of coffee or a smoke break.

One of the things I like to do is to take my camera and go to Victoria Secret or other women's clothing. Then I walk around looking at different manikins and clothing as if I were looking for clothing for a shoot. You can do this even without a camera.

When a woman approaches you - you can mention how you are trying to pick wardrobe for your next shoot.

Again every young woman dreams to be a model and love to have met someone like you. You can exchange numbers with her after a little chat and even suggest that she should try modeling someday.

Exercise:

How can you initiate an interaction with women working in the mall?

What can you say to connect with her?

How will ask her out or ask for her number?

Women You Meet At The Mall

I want to throw a word of caution before you approach women in the mall. Many females in the mall are actually underage. I highly recommend you ask for their age before going farther. There are quite a few females who look of age but are still under age and you do not want to get into any trouble by approaching them. Besides they are young girls so leave them to enjoy their age.

The best thing to do in a mall is to go up to a woman and be direct about you liking her and wanting to get to know her. Then continue to walk with her and take her to the food court.

Most women love when men approach them. It is very romantic and they do not expect this to happen to them.

But a big requirement for them to engage with you is that you come across as a man they would like to date.

This is why I highly recommend that you are well groomed and dress up well when you approach women in malls or on the street.

You can also ask female opinion and take them out as a thank you.

One time I approached a woman and asked what should I get for the parents of my friend on their 50th anniversary. Then insisted I buy her coffee for her help.

The idea is to approach women, initiate conversation with them, get them on an instant date and generate sexual feelings in them. I have a whole system on meeting women daytime. It is called Anytime Attraction. It will teach best strategies to approach women on streets, inside malls and other places during daytime and take them home for instant sex.

I also want to caution you that women get conscious sometimes when approached in crowded places and may walk away. Do not take this personal. It is the name of the game.

Exercise:

Write down 2 ways of approaching women and initiating conversation with them.

Write down a strategy to engage her.

Write down 2 scenarios of walking her to the food court with you.

Charity Representatives

Strategy 1

This is an amazing opportunity to meet women. If you are after idealistic women, this is the place to be.

Charity organizations hire young-attractive women banking on the fact that most men open wallet to good-looking women.

Most men either comply and give money to her or avoid her. No man ever stops and flirts with her.

When you stop and flirt with this woman you send a strong message that you are a man who is not intimidated by her looks and will not fall for her game. This presents you as a challenge and makes them want to win you over.

Women love to meet a man who is not ashamed to after a woman. This clues them that unlike other men you are sexual. Just don't go too strong saying things like she is the only one or you are looking for something long-term.

When you first meet her let her know you are sexual and plan to take her home for some dirty sex. When done right – women cannot resist this move. It throws them off balance and all of a sudden you have power over them.

You could also challenge them for a playful debate and get power over them.

For instance if she is raising funds for children in third world country tell her you don't think they need it. Ask her to convince you that the cause is just. Do this with a smile on your face to clue her that you are just messing with her. This changes something in their demeanor.

They become less business and step into playful-flirting mode, which is where you want them to be.

One time I refused to give donation until she convinced me. We sat down and had a lengthy chat. I challenged her beliefs. I did not open my wallet. I then suggested that she can have a second chance to convince me over drinks after work - guess what? She took me up.

We met for drinks and an hour later I took her home even though she had a boyfriend at the time that she lived with.

The thing to keep in mind is that debates are merely an excuse to sit with her, make extended eye contacts, touch and tease her.

All I want is for her to sit with me and give me ample opportunities to get her sexually excited.

For instance I will hug her at times when she is losing the argument or says something funny. I will look deep in her eyes and say: “even though I do not agree with your cause, I can tell you are a very caring person”.

I would even tease saying things like” “so glad we are not together cause we would be debating all the time outside of sex. The only way for me to avoid debates will be to keep you naked in the house and that will be trouble”.

You get the idea - make a connection and turn them on sexually using debate as a cover. Focus on what she says and make extended eye contact. Share some of your similar beliefs and watch how the bond gets stronger and stronger. It is essential to keep teasing her from time to time. You should not totally agree with her at any point. What makes her come out is the feeling she could not win you over.

The more you tease, the more you touch and flirt - the more she'll like you. An extended conversation is a great excuse for sitting on a bench or for going to a coffee.

Second Strategy

One time I took my camera and spend an hour taking photos where members of some charity groups were. It was a busy downtown square.

Every volunteer saw me and approached me from time to time to look at my photos. They made small talks because they were curious what I was doing.

It made me look cool. Since everyone was approaching me my value was high.

Every woman was making eye contact with me and trying to talk.

They would pose for me and before you know I was one of them.

Now all I had to do was ask them out.

I asked two of them out and guess what I slept with both of them.

Exercise:

Where can you go to meet women who raise money for charity?

List 3 charity organizations that are very active in your area?

How can you have a healthy debate against their cause without offending them?

Where can you take the woman for an instant date or after work? It has to be around where you meet her.

Do you have any hobby that will allow you to get their attention?

Meetup - People Looking For Friends And Love

Meetup.com is a great resource to meet women. This website is more like a website for singles to meet without the pressure of a real date.

People who use Meetup.com are lonely and hoping to become more social.

You can target really well the kind of woman you want.

You can join professional meetups if you like to meet matured professional women. Career and Goal Settings usually draws young and ambitious women. There is a meetup for activities like acting, singing, anxiety, hiking, photography, and anything you can think of.

It helps to search for women who enjoy same activities as you. This will give you things to talk about and activities to do on a date. It will also help you in the long-term relationship because you will have things in common.

All you have to do is socialize and stand apart from your competition when you go to these meetup events. Most men here have no social skills. If you have been trained by us or studied our study courses you will kill it! You will make women beg to be with you simply because you will be the best option.

Also it is ok to make an effort to become friends with everyone here. No one will bat an eye if you were to ask a woman for her phone number and text her later to meet up.

In fact since you will be the only guy with some personality and skill set women will probably be hoping you ask them out and may even ask you out.

I used to be part of several meetup groups and I crushed every single one of them.

And don't think that organizers are out of your reach. Women who start meetup groups themselves are hoping to meet men.

I have slept with women who started meetup on yoga, salsa and meditation.

One of my female friends came up with an idea to start meetup for single men so she can have them all to herself and choose the one she likes. Her meetup only lasted 3 weeks because she found a man she liked :)

And finally you can always start a meet up of your own. This puts you in control and provides with many opportunities to meet women. Since you are the organizer now you can message women to help you with setting up meetups and other task then take them out for dinner or drinks in exchange for their help.

Exercise:

Write down qualities you seek in a woman.

Ask what meetup will attract such women. Example if your criteria is skinny or athletic women then you look for yoga, running, marathon, workout, hiking and dancing.

What can you do stand apart at those meetups?

Would you like to start your own meetup? Which One?

Church/Prayer Halls

Believe it or not, church is a great place to meet women. Being a member of the church automatically labels you as safe. At the same time you also demonstrate compatibility by being part of the same denomination.

Meeting Women During Weekly Service

At service, position yourself close to the woman you like. Start making eye contact even before you approach her. I recommend against approaching direct so talk to a few people before reaching her and let her watch you socialize. Talk to a few people around her and finally approach her. Politely introduce yourself and ask her name. It is a normal practice in church and women won't feel any discomfort with this. Then ask her if she lives nearby and how often she comes and if she has a set time and day she prefers for service.

Mention your surprise that you never saw her or just admit being new. Use one of these themes to continue conversation.

If you both have been going to the same church for a while continue I cannot believe I have never seen you, You can even drop couple names of pastors you know and events you attended. This establishes you as a part of church. It makes you a safer choice to talk to and maybe visit outside of church.

Instead of asking her out the first time you can end by making a strong eye contact and extended handshake. This will further extend your credibility and make a strong first impression.

I Promise: you will see each other at the next session. I also promise that she will dress nicer because she hopes she will run into you again. This is simply the power of extended eye contact and extended handshake.

When you see her the next time and she is dressed well than the first time or if she has better makeup, hair etc. then you know she is also into you and this dress up is only for you. Prepare your move for this meeting.

Talking to a woman you like in church requires you to stay polite and not create much sexual tension. This probably the only place I will tell you to slow down on generating sexual tension. You don't want the eyes of the whole community to be drawn towards the two of you. This will only work against you and you will scare her.

Bible Studies

Bible studies are an excellent place to meet women. Women who attend Bible Studies are a bit shy so you have to be careful not to push hard. The best approach is to make eye contact, become friends and then ask her out on a date. When you go to Bible Studies, talk to everyone and not just to her.

The fastest way to stand apart in a Bible Study is by asking difficult questions and initiating debates. Women love men who are bold and don't follow traditions. Women in Bible Study feel like it is their mission to intervene and help you find the right way. This makes you a challenge and women want to please you.

They also like that you are strong willed and do not submit to authority easily.

This combination makes women see you as a fascinating man.

Once you've made yourself noticed, you'll see that women will come to you and initiate debates of their own. They just want someone to talk to who shares the same thoughts.

Events

Almost every church has programs for singles to meet up. They have singles night and special services for singles. When I first moved to the US I was struggling to meet women.

I was invited to this church couple of times. I was later introduced to the pastor. I told him about not meeting any woman and he invited me to service for young people.

My cousin married a woman he met at a church service.

Remember you are not the only one who confesses to the priest that you are single and want to meet women. The pastor can play matchmaker. This was never my thing but I am giving you the option so you are aware.

Volunteer Work

Church organizes volunteer work on regular basis. They take you to orphanage, hospitals and other places of need. This is a great opportunity to meet women and show your kind heart.

This also creates an instant connection because you both are warm and caring towards other people.

The large majority of women who join these programs are lonely. They feel sad for being alone and so they help other people to ease their own pain. You can always use this theme to create connection with her.

One time I told this woman at a church event: “I do not know anything about you but there is some sadness when I look at you. I hope I am wrong but if I am right I promise you it wont last long”. And I walked away without letting her respond. Through out the day she kept coming close to me because she wanted more approval from me. At the end of the evening I made small talk with her and asked if she wanted to grab a bite. Soon we were dating.

Conversation plays a vital role in engaging women who attend volunteer work. You have to dig deep enough in order to reveal her motives and make her feel good about herself. Feel free to ask personnel questions of her and also reveal some of you weaknesses.

Don't forget to ask what drove her to volunteer work? Make use of your knowledge on women psychology and surprise her with your comprehensive point of view. She will see much more than a potential partner in you.

Exercise

Is there a religious place around you that you can visit?

Check their website or call them to find out upcoming events.

How can you initiate conversation with a woman you meet at this religious event.

Are there any charity or volunteer events you can spare time to attend?

How will you stand apart and hook women at these events.

Young Professionals Events

This is another great resource to meet career driven women.

You can find these events by registering with your local Chamber Of Commerce, by doing a search on Google, by going on a forum for your industry, craigslist and meetup.com.

You do not have to belong to the same organization or field. These are networking events. They want to meet people from all fields.

Almost everyone here goes to meet people and build a friend circle. Women here are friendly and eager to meet people. These groups hangout on regular basis and of course deep down they are hoping to meet someone special.

And don't think you only meet businesswomen here. You will meet women her who are artists, teachers, doctors and marketers. You even meet women here from different parts of the world. So for instance you can join chamber of commerce for Germany or France and meet lot of Europeans from these countries.

Great thing about these meetings is that 99% of men who come here have no game to impress women. The only thing they know is to brag about their career assuming this will draw women to them. Some try to hang out with women under the pretense to find them job or clients and some simply chase women to date them. Women find this behavior very unattractive and these guys rarely get any women here.

You on the contrary will make strong eye contact, make extended handshake, establish good body language, stand yourself apart from other men and finally generate sexual tension to make her want you.

So if there is a CEO of a company you know every man will kiss her ass by saying you are so successful and talented. You on the contrary will ignore her business side and appeal to the woman in her. For example when she tells you that she is a CEO you will respond by saying something like: “Can I tell you something? You really do not come across like a CEO. You are very down to earth, warm and friendly woman. I see you more as a nurturer as opposed to CEO. And that is a big complement to you!”

The idea is to engage her on personal level and not business level.

You could also comment on her dress or fashion and say: “I would have never guessed. You look like a girlfriend or wife material not a business material. And even though it is a sexist comment it is actually a complement that you have not lost touch with your feminine side and I like that!”

Make sure you are looking in her eyes or holding had for handshake or both when you give this compliment. It will have no impact on her if you avoid eye contact when you make this statement. Seduction is two part process: She has to feel seduced + she has to see in you a man she wants to be seduced by. Making eye contact and touching her positions you as sexually confident man that no woman can resist.

Then ask her more about her stuff and connect with her.

I prefer to have an instant date after the event. I usually will ask her to stay for a drink after the event. Or reengage her towards the closing of the event and suggest we drink and talk some more.

If she says you need to take conversation as if she is just some woman you met in a bar. Then touch her, make eye contact and get her sexually excited.

Or you can exchange information and call her another day.

Exercise:

Go online and look for professional meetups in your area. Don't forget to look at chamber of commerce website.

Signup for the next event.

Depending on the group ask yourself what type of women you'll meet there and how can you make them feel special.

How can you make them stay after the event?

How can you bounce to a different venue from there?

How can you get sexual and take them home?

Couch Surfing + Air BNB

This website should be renamed. It should be called meet attractive women for unconditional + unlimited sex on demand and get paid doing that. Yes very long name and horrible branding but that is exactly what this website is about.

When I was using couch surfing I had 3-4 girls walking naked in my house 24/7 and having sex one after another. And this is no joke...

I had so many women on me that I was literally passing women to my neighbors. I would tell them to their face that I want you to go and have sex with this neighbor of mine and sleep there and women would comply without any hesitation.

I would tell women that I want to have sex with them after I finish with the woman in bed and guess what they sat down and waited.

I really mastered couch surfing.

If you follow my couch surfing system you will have so many women that you will not know what to do with them.

In a minute I will share my personal profile and strategy but first I want to give you a general strategy.

It starts with your profile.

Profile

Have a great profile. Don't write too much but enough. My profile mentioned I am from another country. I state this in a funny way by saying: My accent changes from person to person which means either I am mental or have friends from many countries. This is to build comfort that I am social and people from all over the world get along with me.

I then say: I like to take photos and if they visit they better be ready to be photographed. Women love to get good photos taken of them. Many don't have the courage to try for modeling. This is their ticket to get some good photos. Additionally women love to travel and meet someone with adventurous or artist side to them. This makes it more tempting for them to come and stay with me.

Then I describe my neighborhood, the living arrangement that is a couch in my room and that I will show them around. I also mention I know secret places in my neighborhood that no one else can show. Believe me everywoman was intrigued by this and not one asked me to show it to them ;)

Profile Photo:

I used a profile photo of me spray-painting a graffiti wall. The idea was to show a cool guy. You see man most women live within boundaries. But deep within they crave to break out of boundaries. Travel presents women with the best opportunity to step out of their comfort zone. When they see that you live outside of traditional values they are tempted to visit you because you will allow them to step out of their comfort zone. This is precisely why so many women have one night stands when on vacation as you must have read the official research on the topic. Here is a link if you missed it:

http://www.huffingtonpost.com/2012/06/20/vacation-sex-40-percent-o_n_1613394.html

Now check profile of most men on these websites. They have simple photos of them. Some are wearing a suit, some are standing in front of a mirror, some one poses inside a high end hotel or next to their expensive car but no one shows any thing magnetic about their life or personality. Most people's profile photo is just horrible. I want my personality to show and give them a reason to stay with me.

Most women will show your photos to their friends before they even book your place. Yup here friends have to find you attractive as well.

I then added some cool photos of neighborhood and that's it.

My Strategy:

When women come over my strategy revolves around showing them a good time and getting sexual. This is where my strategies come in very handy.

So lets talk about my strategy.

There were 2 main components of my interactions with women:

1. Photography
2. Showing Them around

Lets start with Photography:

Even before women show up they are made aware by my profile that I like photography and if they visit they should be ready to be photographed. I then have really cool photos of neighborhood on my profile. This is enough motivation for women to come and stay with me. Most of these women get a haircut or wax before coming to my place because they know good chances are they will be photographed and every woman likes to look good in their photos. I have had women as young as 19 and as old as 36 coming over just so they can get some nude shots from me.

Then when they come to my place they see my wall full of sexy black and white images of women in bikini set and sensual nude. It is absolutely must that these photos look tasteful and not pornographic.

The minute women see these images they feel the pressure to compete. They want to look as sexy as women in these photos. They were willing to show, pose, drop clothes or do whatever I ask. They see proof that women drop their clothes in front of me all the time. And I do not have to tell you that women love men who are desired by other women. After looking at these photos women get it that if so many women are getting naked around me good chances are that many of them are also having sex with me.

I also make sure to have couple images on the wall of my ex girlfriend's so I can bring up stories of me having sex with models then dating them.

Again my whole strategy is to sexually liberate her and motivate her to have uninhibited sex with me.

Usually they will suggest themselves that they would like to be photographed by you. If not just ask them to model for you and they will gladly accept.

Some of them might feel a little shy or feel they do not have a great body compared to your models. This is a great opportunity to get sexual. At times like this I usually say something like: "Are you kidding me? Ok I'll be honest with you when I first saw your profile photos I thought you were not good looking at all. Sorry and I think you really need to change that photo. (I say this to shock them a little and to show that I am very honest. Later they experience a big release when they get a complement from me) But when you showed up I was like holly shit she is beautiful. Honestly I am dying to get you naked and take photos of you. You have amazing eyes, love you hair and you body is so attractive and right proportion. You will probably be my best work of art. You don't even know what you have. As my lesbian friend will say you are very-very fuckable 😊.

So you see what I did. First I shocked her by saying I did not find her attractive. Then I gave her a major compliment. Coming from me makes her feel amazing. I inject sexual conversation to get her comfortable with us talking sex.

The idea is to start having sexual conversation. Let her know you notice her body and you find her sexual. It is this style of conversation that gets her thinking about nudity and she gets turned on. Sometimes women hold back because they are unsure if you like them or not. These type of statements motivate them to flirt openly because they see you have sexual interest in them. This makes it easy for both of you.

Next I decide a time and date for the shoot. Sometimes it is within hours of meeting them. The shoot has to include different locations, different wardrobe and sensual nude. This is great opportunity to get sexual again. I praise her body and suggest she have sexual thoughts for realistic expression. I take her permission from time to time to fix her hair, adjust her pose, fix her clothes and cover/uncover her breasts.

I keep saying how beautiful she is and I hate that she is my guest and how I wished she was staying locally for ever. This is to balance sexual theme with romance. A woman will most probably reject your move if it is pure sexual, unless you have already established strong sexual comfort with her. This is why I add romance to the equation. The combination of romance and sexual tension gets her to have sex with you.

Now all I have to do is initiate sex

Showing Them Around:

The next part of my strategy involved having a good time with them. The idea of a good time is not just to show them around but do it in a manner that gets them sexually excited. I want them to step out of their comfort zone and do things they have never done before. This gives them the sense of liberation, they get sexually excited and sleep with you the minute you make a move on them.

I used to rent a scooter and take women for a ride. Most women have never done this so they really loved it! It was a great experience for them to sit on the back of a scooter and waive at people passing by.

They sat close and hugged me tight. This increased physical comfort.

I took them to popular tourist destinations and when possible to a sex museum. Sex museums are great to talk about sex, touching male and female sex toys, sex dolls and watching porn.

By the end of the night we experienced comfort with each other as if we were dating for years. Sex was the only natural outcome of this day.

At times I took women to beach at night. We sat at the beach and drank. Some women were musicians and we took guitar or Ukulele that they would play. With others I would take IPod and play songs. Some I encouraged to take off their clothes and swim naked at night.

The best part of going to the beach at night: every woman has fantasized about having sex on the beach but very few have experienced. So it is very easy to make it happen since this is an experience they secretly desire.

One of the secrets to my success with women is that I interact with women as if I am there for them to have a good time. I want them to have a great memory, a great experience and a great sexual encounter that will leave them satisfied. It will be something they will think of for years to come. This makes it easy for me to escalate because I am seducing them for their pleasure and not mine.

Its no big deal if you do not stay near a beach. Every town has something sexual. You just need to know what that thing is in your town. It could be a sex museum, a Goth store or sex toy store that they must see before they leave. Gay bars work great and I will elaborate on that in a minute.

And of you do not have such a place no worries, Hangout with some friends and drink. Before I moved to Beach community I used to have friends over for drinks. We would discuss about other guests from the past and all the cool things we did together. This would make women feel the need to be part of the group. It motivated them to connect and get close which made it easy to generate sexual tension.

The idea is to pave a path that makes it easy for her to have sex with you.

One of my Natural advantage is that I have lot of gay and lesbian friends. The best thing you can do to seduce a woman is to have them in the company of gay men and women. Gay community is very relaxed about sex. They do not have hang ups around sex. They encourage people to have sex. So when they are around they open your woman up sexually. They encourage her to be promiscuous and you get the benefit of this.

I take women to gay bars. These bars have are sexually charged. Every one is kissing making out and flirting. They even flirt with you and encourage you to get sexual. This frees women up and they feel sexually liberated. Now all you have to do is look in their eyes and initiate a kiss.

Exercise:

Make A Posting On Couch Surfing Or AirBnb.

Write a creative profile.

Add a cool photo.

Think 3 ways you can tempt women to stay with you.

Classes - Acting, Music Lessons, Sports

Lot of opportunities to meet young-attractive and single women here.

Some of my favorite classes to take to meet women are:

1. Fencing
2. Scuba Diving
3. Photography
4. Singing
5. Guitar
6. Acting – Stage + Camera
7. Comedy Improve.
8. Drawing and Painting (including body art and nude body)
9. Salsa Dancing
10. Water Polo

11. Volley Ball
12. Theater Clubs (Where you go to watch theater)
13. Field Trips (Where you go to different cities as a group)
14. Yoga
15. Fashion

When you go to these classes you have the option not just to date students but also the teachers who teach these classes.

I have dated teachers from Salsa Dancing Class, Tai-Chi Class and Fencing Class.

So lets get to it...

Dating Teachers

This is probably the easiest in the whole spectrum. No one thinks that their teacher is an option and so no one makes a move leaving zero competition for you.

What works best in these situations is to flirt with other women in front of her and socialize with as many people. You see the mistake most men make is they stop seeing their teacher as a woman. Your teacher is a female and has same emotions like the girl you meet in a bar. So when you flirt with your teacher flirt with the woman who happens to be a teacher.

You can then make small talks with the teacher before and after class. Offer her help to set up or wrap up class. This will give you opportunity to have 1 on 1 time with her. Talk to her and get to know her during this time.

Don't be afraid to tease her.

Make sure to make as much eye contact as you can. Your touching, teasing and eye contact will generate sexual tension and create the male-female dynamic between the two of you. You need to switch from teacher-student to man-woman as soon as you can.

Once she begins to like you then all you have to do is ask her out.

I will share couple examples from life to give you some idea.

My Salsa Teacher

I took Salsa Lessons long time back as part of my overall development.

I signed up for private lesson because I did not have the confidence to learn with a bunch of people around me. I was very insecure and felt people will laugh at me when I make mistakes.

This turned out to be one of the best things that happened to me!

My teacher was a very attractive, skinny and tall blonde woman.

After the very first class we sat down to have a little friendly chat. She asked me what I did and why the dance lessons. I told her I was into currency trading, which I was at the time. I confessed I was shy with women and am hoping this will allow me to meet women. I continued by saying I want to be able to melt women with my dance. I want to become so good with my dance that women will have no choice but to go home with me after they dance with me. We laughed at this but it also started the journey of our romance.

You what ended up happening was that since she realized I was struggling with women she also started to help me become good with flirting. She made romance as the major theme of our class. In every class she would tell me that you should lead women in xyz manner or touch her here and make certain eye contact to seduce her.

The end result of me practicing flirting on her was that she began to feel seduced by the moves she was teaching me – Brilliant!! The moral of the story women love to help men become good at dating. Use this to lure women whenever you can.

At the time I did not have much skills with women. So I just asked her out for lunch. Having no experience on escalation I made things quite awkward by saying I wanted to be more than friends with her. As you can imagine this worked against me but still I felt better about taking action.

She told me that she is married and can't do that.

I was cool with that and said hope this does not affect our friendship.

Next day when I met her, something had changed about her. She was dressed sexier and she was touching me more than ever. At first I thought she is teasing now that she knows my intention but later I realized what actually had happened.

You see when I proposed her at lunch it created awkwardness in the manner I did. She was a little shocked because she did not expect me to make a move. It some time for her to accept what had happened and then she got really turned on by the idea of having a lover.

When I met her the next day she was ready to be with me and so she started making her moves on me.

This is precisely why I teach men to flirt from the beginning so women are not surprised when you try to take things to the next level. This is also why I teach escalation from the beginning so there is sexual tension between the two of you from the minuet you meet or approach her. Seriously mate watch the T.E.A.S.E. videos to learn how to flirt right with women else you will always struggle with women. You can watch them here:

<http://www.attractionmethods.com/attraction-bible/>

Few days later she told me that she is having trouble with her husband and is thinking of leaving him. This was a signal for me and we hooked up.

If I were to do this again I won't ask her out for lunch or propose that we be more than friends.

Instead I will do the same...TEASE HER.

I would make eye contact, pull her close to me when dancing.

Then flirt with other women in front of her.

Bottom line I will make her want me before I make the move.

After we slept together she told me that because she is married and I am single that I should meet other women on the side. She even started to hook me up with multiple girls from her class while she was sleeping with me.

My Fencing Coach

My fencing coach was a beautiful European woman.

I built attraction the same way I always do: by standing apart from other men and being the one who is liked by everyone around her.

When everyone was busy warming up and trying to practice their skill I would be the lazy one sitting on the floor. When she would ask me to run or warm up I would be the guy who never wanted to do it. But I always refused in a very pleasant manner. I would run 5 steps or do 1 crunch and say that's it I am done. Pretty much I acted like a child.

Again the idea was to not be another student to her. I wanted her to know that I am not another guy she control as she pleases but in a fun way.

At the same time I would make eye contact with her and have a grin on my face. This showed my interest in her. This is crucial. I want her to know that I am a man who has his eyes on her.

So now she knows there is a man who does follow her like other men and may also be sexually interested in her. This makes her think differently of me and act differently around me because now she interacts with me like a woman as opposed to my teacher.

In addition I socialized with everyone including the owner of the club. I made small talks with everyone on regular basis and even invited them out for drinks. I made small talk with her as well. But most importantly I talked to people she was close to. This way they would like me and tell good things to her for me behind my back.

I had to do nothing...other people were working to make her like me.

When she would give me lessons I would get playful. I would attack her when she is not ready then claim I am a better fencer than her.

I would challenge her to a duel and the loser has to buy drinks or dinner. Of course I was going to lose but that defeat is what also got me my first date with her.

She warmly declined saying no it was a joke and that I do not have to take her out. To which I replied no it was not. If she would have lost she was going to take me to a very expensive restaurant.

I said it's no big deal, we are friends and you can take me out next. I instantly followed by saying scratch that you can cook and invite me over.

I took her out for drinks and she invited me for dinner next.

That was it we were together for about 8-9 months until she went back to her country.

Dating Students

When it comes to dating students I take a three-part strategy:

1. Becoming Desirable
2. Flirting
3. Asking Them Out

Becoming Desirable

The very first thing I do in every class is become that guy who is very desirable aka the popular guy. There are very simple tricks to make it happen.

I always become friendly with the instructor and their groups.

Before or After class I talk to the instructor and get to know them. I also praise their coaching and tell them how glad I am to be under them.

From thereon my friendship keeps building with them.

It's amazing how much attractive you become to women when you belong to the group of instructors. They get impressed when they notice that instructors have become buddies with you and you guys now talk on personal basis.

It is not that you have become friends with instructors but the contrast that no other man in class has social skills like you – builds your value in the eyes of women.

One time a professor in my college even announced in the class saying single women how do you focus when you have Magic in class. She did this only because we both had become good friends. I do not have to tell you how much pussy that comment got me.

I make small talks with all other students and validate them on how good they are at what they do and wish I could be like them. Of course this chat is one on one.

Sometimes I pretend I am having hard time in the class and there are lot of benefits of doing this.

For example when I was taking acting lessons I would tell my peers during our one on conversation how good they are and that I will freeze when I get to stage cause I have never done this before

They want me to feel good because I make them feel good.

Now when I get on the stage they start cheering for me to support me.

As a result everyone starts to notice my popularity because I am the only guy people cheer for.

One time I took a date of mine to a class. After the class she mentioned how popular I am because everybody cheered for me when I got on the stage.

And finally but not always I invite the class and instructors over to my place for dinner. Half of them show up and my friend circle starts the other half hear about what they missed and become friendly.

So the idea is to do something to become desirable.

Exercise:

List 3 things to make a connection with them.

Flirting

This is the easy part. I continue to make eye contact, smile, stand close to them, flirt with other women in front of them and use T.E.A.S.E. around them.

Your style and opportunity of flirting will change from one class to another and one environment to another.

For instance in a fencing class my flirting was a bit of slap stick with me getting competitive with women, poking them with my foil (fencing sword) when they had their guards down and challenging them to bouts.

In scuba diving, the lessons did it all for me. We were supposed to give each other CPR. We dressed and undressed each other. We dived together. Held hands under water and exchanged our breathing tubes. At the end of the night we had to take our shower under common shower. We often used to stay and swim for a bit after class.

All these activities along with her observing me as friends with instructor and other students was much more than what was needed to appear the man she wants to be with.

In the acting class my flirting was more compliment based and relied heavily on making eye contact.

Bottom line is that you need to mix in eye contact, touching and closeness else your connection will be nothing more than a platonic friendship.

Exercise:

List 2 ways you can initiate flirting with women in a class setting.

Asking Them Out

Asking women out after you become desirable is quite simple.

You can either ask them for a little help and in return take them out for dinner or simply ask them out.

One time in my acting class I told this woman that I need some help with my presentation. I told her that I would gladly buy her a cup of coffee if she can help me for 10 minutes after class. I mentioned coffee and not dinner because I did not want her to feel it was a trick to take her out for dinner. After she helped me I said that was great and you know what I am taking you out for dinner to thank you. She replied by saying no need. And I replied not asking you telling you. I am picking you up at 7.30 and lets go out.

But most of the time I just say what are your plans this evening? Let's grab a drink.

So after you make them like you and have established flirting with them find a way to ask them out on a date. This is where you will escalate and take things to the next level.

College Campus – Dorms - International Students

College campuses are a great place to meet women on regular basis. You do not have to be a college student to meet them.

You can simply walk up to girls walking on campus but obviously you need to have a good handle on approaching women and generating attraction. There is another FOOL PROOF way also the BEST WAY to have FAST SEX. It is by joining International Students Club.

And then of course there is dorm parties and classroom.

So lets explore them all:

Approaching Women On Campus

This is the easiest step but hardest if you have no training to take women on an instant date.

Most women on campus are open to meeting new people and dating men. This makes it easy.

Most men are too afraid to approach these women and so you stand apart just by approaching them.

You can simply approach women to ask for directions to a building, make small talk and invite them to join you for coffee.

You can also be direct about your intention and say you want to get to know her.

Sometimes you have to be ready to take advantage of the situation. If you see a woman carry too many books to the library or a computer monitor etc., which happens often, go and offer help.

One of my favorite ways to meet women was to recruit them for my film, writing or photography project. I would approach women and say I am doing a documentary and need female actress or need female model for my photography project and if they could help me. I would never offer them money because that gets them uncomfortable. Instead I say things like I will be grateful or I would buy them coffee etc.

Campus cafeteria, student union and dorm grounds were my favorite place to approach women. They are already there and so you do not have to go any other place for a date. Women are also used to getting approached on campus for surveys etc. so they do not think much of you approaching them and asking them a question/ opinion and then steer it into getting personal with them.

Approaching At Cafeteria

The cafeteria allowed me to meet women who were just sitting and reading so I knew they had time to interact. Having many people around also made it safe for her to talk to a strange man though that is rarely an issue for women unless you approach them in dark alleys or very late at night.

Since we are on the topic please make sure to never do that. Our goal is to meet women and make nice romantic and sexual connections. We are not there to hurt women or cause them any discomfort. Approaching women in dark alleys or late at night with no around is very scary and intimidating. Be the noble man and walk away in such a situation.

Moving on...

You can initiate conversation by simply sitting down with them as if to share the table (common practice in college pubs).

If she is reading you could ask her what her subjects are and then steer the conversation, lots of hint in Attraction Bible.

You could also approach her with a question as if you are conducting a survey or gathering data. Then steer the conversation.

And of course the age old: Are you friend with XYZ? Or Where Have We Met Before? Or You Are In My Math Class Right?

Student Union

Student union is another place where you meet lot of women just hanging out. Many women work in different student associations and organizations. All you have to do is start talking to them and inquire about their organization.

Make extended eye contact while talking to her and use T.E.A.S.E. to generate attraction.

You could also make a documentary on college student union thereby interviewing all the women who work there. Later you can meet up with them for follow up questions and take them out for coffee as a thank you.

Meeting Women In College Gym

Many college campuses allow alumni to workout in their gymnasium. You can take membership and meet women this way.

Most women usually follow same schedule. If you met a woman working out at 6am chances are she will be there the next day or the day after at the same time doing the same routine.

All you have to do is get on her radar make eye contact and initiate interaction.

You can also volunteer to spot for women or ask them to spot for you. Make sure you do not have too much weight on your machine when you ask them to spot you.

You can also hire personal trainers, which are often young women. After few classes all you have to do is to ask them out.

You can also join hundreds of classes they teach in the fitness center.

I used to meet lot of attractive women in indoor rock climbing, water polo and volleyball. A new class allows you to bond because you both start at the same level. All you have to do is introduce yourself and make small talk, which is only the polite thing to do when you start a class with someone. Then continue to talk every time you see them, make eye contact, tease them a little and ask them out.

A class like water polo or volleyball allows you to be competitive and use the competitive energy to generate attraction. You can tease women before, during and after the game. Teasing has an amazing ability for people to react emotionally to one another leading to a quick emotional connection.

Remember though that there is a difference between teasing and insulting or bullying. Be cute like you are talking to your 8-year-old sister.

There are lots of sports clubs on campus. These are another great place to meet women. You can be the one who starts a club. This club could be about meeting few times a week outside of class to practice a certain sport or to go on trips.

I started this fencing club when I was going to college of New Jersey. I used to give beginner lessons to all the girls who came to my club. They wanted to hang out with me at all times. I will discuss the details in a bit but just wanted to share it with you.

Meeting Women At Dorm Parties

If you are a student then the best thing to do is to go to college parties that happen on campus every Thu-Sun eve. All you have to do is have a six-pack of beer on you and go inside the dorm room you hear loud music from.

You can also talk to men and women in your class and they can update you on parties they are attending, even extend you an invitation.

When you go to the party start talking to the first person you come across. It does not have to be a woman. This will present you as a social person and you will not feel awkward standing by yourself.

You can walk up to the first person or group and introduce yourself. Say hey guys what's up? I am just waiting from my friend "his name", he invited me to this party. This covers up the fact that you are no stranger and that your friend is the friend of the host. Now you can find out more about whose dorm it is and what the dynamics are.

Then you can start talking to more men and women at the party.

When you see a woman you like, get to know her. Make sure you address her friends equally or she will feel the pressure to get back to her friends.

Most college parties have some activity like beer pong or twister. Ask her to team up with you. Teaming up and competing with others instantly creates a bond and friendship that you can then escalate to romance the same night or exchange numbers to meet in future.

You can even ask her out for some fresh air to have some 1 on 1 conversation.

Meeting Women In Classes

The very first thing is to take some classes where you will meet attractive women in abundance.

What I generally find is that the hottest women take business. Many bisexual women are found in women and gender studies and also in liberal arts. Psychology and sociology draws a fair share of women as well. Then of course there is acting and singing. Women in Math and Science are generally less social because of the work pressure they have.

My favorite were Scuba Diving, Tai-Chi, Water Polo And fencing. I slept over 20 women between these 4 classes.

So take any of these classes for extra credit will allow you to meet number of women.

Most men do not approach women inside classrooms. All you have to do is sit next to the woman you like or have small talks with her before and after class.

Making eye contact during class also helps.

If the woman you like to participate in class discussion disagree with her as much as you can but in a playful manner.

Attractive women are used to having men please them. When you continue to disagree and not let her win she uses the age old weapon – her sexuality to win you 😊

I was one of the nut jobs who was always more prepared than my professors and loved to challenge them. I cannot tell you how many times I proved my professors incorrect or had more information on the subject than them. So yes being knowledgeable helps in school environment. Women used to approach me after class just to congratulate me on how much I knew.

But I must warn you there is a difference between the man who is in control vs. the man who is annoying. You do not want to be the man who always wants to add to discussion and drag it for hours. Nothing is more annoying than the guy who stops class lessons from moving forward.

Another thing you never want to do is try to manipulate women by acting sensitive towards them. When I was in gender studies there were these men who cried on how life was so tough for women and the challenges they faced. No woman was dumb enough to fall for their sympathy trap.

On the contrary I always underplayed women's struggles saying men have their own share. Yes there are situations and dynamics that work against women but there are situations that work against men.

Women had more respect for me for being honest and strong man. They admired that I had balls to challenge them. And this made most women feel drawn to me. Most women want strong willed men. By standing your ground you become the man who believes in himself. This leaves women with only one choice – use their sexuality to get on your good side.

The idea in the classroom is same: stand apart from other men + engage the woman you like + generate attraction + ask her out on a date.

Meeting Women In International Club

International Clubs are the goldmine. No man outside of me realizes the potential of meeting women for SEX in this organization.

And yes I said SEX because majority of women who come from other country come for a short stay. They usually want nothing more than a short fling.

99% of women I met through International Clubs told me after sex that they always thought people were having sex in American dorm rooms all the time. In short these women were hoping to have sex in dorm after they get to America. You can use this even if you do not live in America. You can lead by telling women how American's are so open minded about sex and men and women have sex in dorm room all the time because they look at sex as a healthy activity.

Women who travel from different country are here to make experiences of lifetime. They are away from their family and friends. This makes them open to bold experiences since no one is around to judge them.

This is their opportunity to let go of control and go for a wild ride.

Most women arrive in the US 10-15 days before school starts. This is when they need the most help. They need someone to pick them from the airport, take them to school, host them until dorms open for stay, show them around and take them shopping.

Majority of schools invite volunteers from within the school and also from outside of school to help these students. As a community member you could offer to join international club and help them experience America.

Almost every International Club invites off campus volunteers to socialize with international students.

After joining this organization you could be the guy who volunteers to pick students from airport and host them. Remember not to pickup only women or you will look like a creep. And yes even though this book is about meeting women you have to socialize and hang out with men and women alike. If not you will never go too far with your skills.

The beauty about picking them from the airport is that you become their first contact in the US. There is always a special significance attached to the first contact.

You are the only person they get to be with until the school starts. This gives you enough chance to get close to them, generate attraction and seduce them.

Lot of these women will have boyfriends back home but I do not remember a single woman who ever held back. Like I said they are here for an adventure and you are man that will make it happen for them.

Starting A Club Or Organization

Finally you can start your own club or organization on campus.

When I went to College of New Jersey on exchange program for a year. I started my own fencing club to jumpstart my social life.

I had over 30 people register.

There were 4 attractive women in that club that I ended up sleeping with.

We used to meet one on one for fencing lessons. This gave me all the time to flirt with them, tease them, touch them and get sexual with them.

They already saw value and demand for me because I was the organizer and everyone wanted to hang out with me.

On the side note you do not have to stick to having a club just on campus you can start your own class on meetup.com or craigslist and many other sites like that.

Exercise:

Think of 3 places to meet women on campus?

Think of 2 ways to initiate conversation with them.

Think of 2 ways to take them on a date.

Think of 2-3 ways to generate sexual tension and escalate sexually.

Sculptures And Art Galleries

Sculptures are a great opportunity to meet women. Every major city has various art pieces and sculptures displayed in their tourist spots.

You will often notice women taking photos of sculptures. You could approach them and ask them to see their pictures or ask what they like about the sculpture. Most often these women will be tourists and on few occasions they will be art students. The deep secret that women will never admit to is that most of these women taking photos are secretly hoping to meet someone while taking photos.

You could even take advantage of this theme and be the one who takes photos. You could position yourself next to the woman who is taking photos and start taking photos yourself then engage her.

And if you get into habit of taking photos on regular basis you will often have women approach you to see what your photos look like.

You can initiate the conversation about the piece in front of you and ask her if she is an artist. Women love to hear this statement!

If she says no then say let me guess what you do, I am great with this. Depending on how comfortable you feel you can build this up to I am amazing and have God like powers etc. and then say with a pause” “you are a unicycle instructor at local circus”.

That’s it you are in! I have never met a woman who did not laugh to this.

You now have three choices:

Option 1: Sit Down With Her

As you continue to talk with her, sit down and make a gesture to sit down with you. Most of the time they will sit down unless it is dirty or muddy. Most women don't mind sitting on the grass with you unless they are wearing a nice dress.

You can also walk to a bench nearby and sit down. Walk while you continue to talk. It becomes very uncomfortable if stay quiet while you walk. No need to ask her. 99% of the time they will follow you because they are engaged in conversation. Just start walking and if she does not walk with you ask her to join you to the bench nearby.

I usually then say that she looks like an artist to me even though she said she is a banker or whatever. I validate my point by saying I concluded this because most people do not show this level of interest unless they love art or have a good understanding of art.

Now you have put her on a high horse. She will do anything to not lose that value. It is not everyday that some random guy finds her genuinely interesting and values her for who she is.

You have already demonstrated you are cool by being an art lover and impressing her with your sense of humor – that unicycle line is a million dollar line. It works every time and on every woman.

Option 2: Go For Coffee

You can sit and talk for a while or if you already have connection you can ask her straight for a cup of coffee or juice.

Say: I am thirsty will go and get some water don't go I wanna chat with you. Then say oh hell lets go together and start walking. Remember leading them is always better than asking them. So no more asking if you'd like to join me for tea or water instead say I want some coffee keep me company and start walking. It will dramatically increase the number of women who go with you.

Option 3: Go For More Art

Your third option is to continue to talk about art then suggest there is an amazing piece of art she should watch or an art gallery she should visit.

Then say: “You know what let me show you this interesting piece or gallery” and start walking.

You have already casted a strong first impression. She is already comfortable and attracted to you at some level to follow you. So now all you have to do is build sexual tension between the two of you and take her home.

Exercise:

Make a list of art places around your house that are popular.

Discover other interesting art pieces/galleries around it.

Find some good coffee shops around the venue.

Think of two ways to initiate conversation with women who are taking photos of art pieces.

Think of two ways and places to lead them to from your first meeting.

Travel

A recent survey revealed that 40 Percent Of Women Under 30 have had a One-Night Stand during a trip and 10 percent said that they had five or more sexual partners over the course of a week-long holiday.

Women have a completely different mindset when they travel. They are more open to adventures when travelling. They are less worried about being judged. They long for intimacy and connection when travelling.

I am going to give you 5 amazing ways to meet women around the theme of travel.

- Air Hostess
- Fellow Passenger On Plane
- Tourist Spots
- Hotel Lounge

- Hostels

Air Hostess

I have dated couple airhostess and slept with few that I met during my travels.

The two things that got me success with them was making strong eye contact throughout the flight and/or engaging other female passengers.

When I like an airhostess I continue to make eye contact with her throughout the flight.

This changes her behavior. She becomes nicer and acts flirtatious.

I then go to her work section during the portion of the flight when she is less busy. I stand there and talk to her while maintaining eye contact. I like to find out if she is going to stay in the city we are going to and for how long. I also like to know if that city is home to her or if she is staying in a hotel. I prefer if she stays overnight in the city and it's not her hometown. It makes it easy for her to hook up.

I also chat with other stewardess on the plane to make sure everyone likes me. The last thing I want is that another stewardess coming between the two of us. I sometimes tell other stewardess that I would like to hook them with my friend who I think is an amazing guy and just the right man for her. This instantly gets them on my side and makes it easy for my woman to flirt back with me.

Then all I have to do is ask them out for dinner or drinks at the end of the flight. But I keep it casual. I say something like I have a reservation at this really great restaurant that we all should go to. Or that I am close to their hotel this evening and we should meet up for a drink or that I need to introduce my friend to the other stewardess.

At times I have even mentioned dating flight attendant's to suggest I get their life style and we could be compatible.

They key is to build great connection, establish comfort and ask them out.

You can learn all of this in the T.E.A.S.E. System.

Fellow Passenger On Plane

Watching an animated film like Finding Nemo on my laptop always get women to engage me. Either they want to watch it too or make comments about it. If I laugh and enjoy the movie they want to engage more. This is strong human impulse. When you are having a good time every one wants to be part of it.

Women very often engage me while I edit film with me in the video and edited photos of models I take.

So you can try any of these methods to engage women.

What works best for me is to make a strong eye contact the minute I see them. Whether it is before boarding the plane or on the plane. Once I make the eye contact, the way I teach in my workshops or T.E.A.S.E. videos women cannot resist. So if you have not already mastered eye contact then you need to learn it. You can learn by watching videos here: <http://www.attractionmethods.com/attraction-bible/>

I have had women touching me throughout the flight even though their boyfriend was sitting next t them.

In a very recent flight I had a female T.V. celebrity (I won't name her) literally rubbed my penis on takeoff as the stewardess watched and laughed – Only because I made a strong eye contact. Two days later she sent me an email and that was the power of my eye contact.

After that it is all about chatting and getting to know each other. Funny thing is that when flight attendants see you connect with a woman they become extremely nice. Which makes you look better in the eyes of the woman you are talking to.

Now all I have to do is make plans with them.

I usually pick our luggage together and share a ride if we are going in the same direction.

Else I make plans to see the city with them or meet them later in the evening.

Because they are travelling, are alone and already have a connection with you they rarely flake on these dates.

Tourist Spots

Tourist spots are great place to meet women who are travelling. Fisherman's Warf in San Francisco, Times Square in New York, Piccadilly Circus In London, Red Wood Forest In Sonoma County And Eifel Tower in Paris are examples of tourist spots.

When you go to these tourist spots you see lot of women walking and taking photos. Many of them have another female friend with them.

You can approach them to take a photo for them. It works well but I do not like it so much. My favorite way is to pretend I heard their accent and want to know where they are from.

Sometimes I look at them and say the name of the country I think they are from. I might throw in a word or two from their language. It usually gets a laugh.

I then make small talk where I suggest few places they should go to. Sometimes I will continue to walk with them and spend time with them other times I will invite them for a drink or a party and leave.

I tell them that unless you party with an American you really have not experience the real America. Most European women are used to partying so they will usually take you up on your offer as long as they know they'll be safe.

Make sure to bring a friend along when you go to visit her. This way she does not feel guilty that her friend is alone.

Now if you are thinking why did this not work for you in the past...the answer is lack of attraction.

Women will only feel attraction for you and follow you if they feel attraction for you.

All this conversation we are having with women is simply to buy time so we can execute T.E.A.S.E. to make attraction happen.

But since this book is about meeting women I will stick to it.

If you want to learn how to generate attraction then download T.E.A.S.E. system here:

Hotel Lounge

Hotel lounge is where you meet women who travel by themselves. Most of these women are in town for business or a conference or music concert.

They are more relaxed and open to adventure. They are not looking for a relationship but they are often open to a quick hook up. Therefore do not get romantic with them instead go for fast sexual escalation.

Businesswomen very often have a strong masculine front. They build this as a defense mechanism against men they work with. When you go meet them first chances are you will see this in them. They may appear a little cold or aloof.

Your job is to make them step out of business mode and make they feel like a woman. You do this by giving compliment to her dress, her body, by touching her hair, making strong eye contact and letting her know you find her attractive.

Don't focus much on her business. Steer it by saying I would have never guessed. You are such a warm person that I would have assumed you are an artist or in fashion. The idea is to draw her to roles that are less business and more sensual.

Then generate sexual feelings as fast as you can using T.E.A.S.E.

I often say to women: "I hate you for meeting me here. I wish we would have met elsewhere and I promise you would not be wearing clothes by now."

Focus more on touching, holding hands and eye contact. Again watch T.E.A.S.E. videos if you haven't already.

Go for the kiss as fast as you can and take them home.

Very often these women will take you to their room in the hotel.

Hostels

Another name for hostels is warehouse for free sex.

It has never happened to me that I go to a hostel and leave without having sex. You do not have to live in a hostel to meet women. You can walk in there to drink and socialize with people.

There is something about the energy of hostels and the people who go there. Most people go to hostels because they are cheap and because they want to meet more people with travel. Usually it is more of a younger crowd. The environment is sexually charged. Men and women are having sex everywhere and yes in front of other people.

There is just no way you will not get laid when staying in a hostel. You just need to know how to get sexual with women very fast.

You can also take the slow road offering to show them around. Make plans for the next day. Lot of these women either make plans with the friend they come with, or people they meet there.

If she has friends along make sure to engage them and win them over. These are a social bunch so you will have no problem connecting with them and hanging out with them.

Initiate the conversations, eye contact and touch-touch-touch. Just like hotel lounge you need to escalate really fast and make sex happen within an hours of meeting them. Watch One Night Stands video if you need step-by-step information on how to make fast sex happen.

Photography

I am probably going to be shunned down by the photographer community for sharing some of their dirty secrets here.

Many photographers use these strategies to meet women and now it goes public.

I got into photography when I first moved to LA in 2007. I wanted to meet attractive women who worked in the Hollywood but didn't know where to meet them. So I made my first post on craigslist looking for a model.

Since then it is still my favorite thing to find women of my liking. This approach puts me in control. It gives me choice with women. Hundreds of women to contact me and I choose the one I like.

I will share with you my 5-step approach what you'll need to meet women using this way.

Camera

Your pocket camera or even an iPhone is enough to get started. However I would recommend you buy few cheap lights from EBAY if you were going to shoot indoors.

For my first shoot I purchased a used canon DSLR for $120 and three light kit for $65.

You can skip the lights. You can be the artist who likes to capture images with natural light only. Go on Google and research how to light your subject without camera lights and you will get lot of ideas.

My advice gets a cheap light kit. This will give you good images that you will be proud of and invite more women in your life.

You can also take a workshop or join a group on Meetup.com to learn a bit about photography.

First Shoot

My first shoot was a paid gig.

I had no portfolio to show and I wanted to dive straight into nude photography.

You can get started for free. You can go on websites like ModelMayhem and Craigslist and make a post.

Lot of women will offer to participate for free but not for nude shoots.

Women do not like to take their clothes off unless they know that you are a great artist or unless they are getting paid for it.

For my first shoot I paid $75 for an hour but it gave me all the images I needed to get started.

I also let the model know before hand that I was just starting and have never done a shoot before. I allowed her to bring her boyfriend/friend along something I do not allow anymore. But I wanted her to feel safe and comfortable cause I had nothing to show as an artist and was shooting nude in my bedroom.

She helped me by guiding me to turn music on, with posing and how to engage women when she is nude.

I was able to get good shots and I was on my way.

I will recommend the same that you hire an experienced model so you can learn something from her.

Writing An Ad

For my first add I mentioned I am getting started with nude photography. I quoted a price and date for the shoot. I also mentioned they are welcome to bring their boyfriend or a friend along. I asked them to send me a headshot along with full profile (body shot). I also asked them to do their own hair and makeup and bring few clothes for costume change. And finally I describe the kind of shoot I plan. I usually want sensual/artistic nude. I mention in my post that there will be no photos of her private parts.

Thereafter I put a link to my photography portfolio in my post. I stopped paying (most of the time) and mentioned in the post they cannot bring anyone with them to the location.

So my add would sound something like this:

I need female models for photo shoot. Images will be amateur style nudes. There will be no exposure of private parts but images will be sexually suggestive in nature. I am attaching a few sample shots.

The shoot will be wrapped within an hour and I will pay you $50 in cash right as you sign the release after the shoot. These images will be used for commercial purposes so a release will be needed. You need to be between the ages of 18-28. I will need govt. issued ID to verify your age.

I am flexible on time and date for the shoot.

If this post is up then I am still looking for models.

If interested send me recent headshot and full body shot with a good date and time you are available. Please also send a good phone number and time to reach you.

Setting Up My Place

I have great black and white photos of sensual nude models on my wall. When a model steps in she instantly feels comfortable looking at the art.

There are many fake camera guys in the industry that do photo shoot only to sleep with women. The problem is that they are not good at it. If I may, they just creep the hell out of women. So women when first come to you they feel a little cautious and these photos helps them feel good about the person they are meeting.

Further more it also puts pressure on them to look as good as these models on the wall. Now they try hard to be good at it and do more than what you ask. Finally I use these photos to lead them to having sex with me as I will explain in a bit.

Put simply these photos put me in control.

I also have my camera and light set up ready because I do not want to waste their time.

In addition I keep a fresh soap and towel along with unopened bottle of water and juice. I also keep have a plate with fruits and unopened box of cookies.

I use the word unopened because I want my models to feel safe. I want them to know that their drinks are not laced with anything. Remember their safety and comfort is our responsibility.

This also puts you instantly in the trusting guy category who knows what he is doing.

I also have some good music playing. I usually put on latest hits or Pandora. I also ask my models if there is certain music they would like to listen to.

And finally I keep the room well lit even if I plan to shoot in the dark. And that is it.

Pre shoot

Any good photographer will tell you that in order to get good photos you need to be in good sync with your model.

So when the models first show up I sit down for few minutes getting to know each other. I talk to them as if I were talking to my best friend and maintain high energy during the conversation.

I ask them how long they have been doing for.

I'd then start making them feel comfortable. Here is a sample chat I would have at this stage:

Me: Thanks for being here on time

Her: Of course

Me: How long have you been doing this for?

Her: 6 months now.

Me: Oh cool! Yeah I saw your portfolio and you got some great photos! You have a very unique look and that is why I am excited to work with you!

Her: Thanks! I am excited too!

Me: So what I plan today is to capture some really cool images of you. I got this idea long time back when I was shooting my ex and will point to her photo on the wall. (This is to let her know that I date my models and that models date me. This is just an easy way of getting her to start preparing her.)

Me: But now that I see you I am getting better ideas. You have such distinct look and great body that I think we need to do it little differently. So I guess we'll start with just a few headshots then I will capture few images of you undressing and we could go into our main theme. If there is any particular style or pose you like more let me know and we can shoot those as well.

We are friends here and I want us to be partners in this project. I can tell you have a great artist mind and I want your input as well. I want to show the beauty in you that no one has ever seen before. I want to show a side of you body, your expression and inner desires that no one has ever seen before at the same time I do not want you to do anything that makes you uncomfortable.

Basically I am starting to make her feel comfortable here and starting to bond. I am also starting to getting her used to me talking about beauty, our partnership and her taking her clothes off. In short I am opening her up to get comfortable to be nude around me, to get used to me connecting with her.

And then I start the shoot.

The Shoot

The whole idea with the shoot is not just to get good photos but establish a romantic and sexual connection.

I establish this by getting to know her, sharing stories from my life, praising her body and expressions, sharing my experience on how my relationship started with my ex who was a model and so on.

I also take her permission to touch her from time to time to adjust her hair, position and angle but never without getting a verbal yes that it ok to touch them.

The idea is to turn her on and make her feel that I am the guy she'd want to date.

The 4 things I focus the most on are:

Getting Sexual With Her

This is the most obvious. I give her lot of compliments on her body and looks but in a manner she loves. Never mention her privates but it is ok to talk about her breasts. Very often I would say things like: “your breasts are every man’s dream. I have to take some close ups”.

“I love how beautiful your curves are”

or

“I have a to put a big print of you on my wall”. Women love this one. It feels great that you find them attractive enough to show off to the world.

Establishing Connection + Acceptance

This is the stage where I make a connection with her by getting to know her and giving my validation.

Lot of female models are in college or working a second job or aspiring for a certain role. I like to find this information about them and give them a unique compliment.

I'd say something like:

“Honestly I love that about you that you want more than looks. I meet so many women in this profession who are just happy with being good looking and no other aspirations. I especially remember this model I worked with. We hung out a few times after work. I am still good friends with her and love her to death but can't get my head around that she does not care for anything else than modeling. Good for her. I mean she is very passionate about her modeling that is how we met and that is our major connection with each other but every time we spend evening together I am always like I will spank you if you mention modeling one more time. So it's really great you crave for more than your looks.”

I rank her higher than other women and give her a unique compliment for who she is and for what she wants in her life. I also convey that I like her for more than her body but there is something more powerful I am doing here and that takes me to my next point:

Setting Expectation

I am training her that most models become friends and hangout with me. I am also training her that I talk to them using crude words like: “Don’t Make Me Spank You”. This shows I am close to those women and also suggests that it is ok for us to talk that way.

Now that other models become friends and hangout with me no reason she can’t.

I use such stories to set up whatever expectations I want to set up for them.

I also use these stories to talk about my ex and how we connected right after the shoot and dated for a while until she moved to a new town.

You see I suggest here that love can happen from these events and a good relationship can come out of it. This is why I even discuss how it ended so she knows that it ended not because we were not compatible but because she had to move for some reason.

I sometimes even compare her to one of my ex by saying it is so funny you do exactly what she does.

Again the idea is to establish the emotional comfort between us that couples have.

Preview Into Relationship

The final step is to give her a preview into what relationship will look like if we were to get together.

Now the photos on the wall can come in handy but you can talk without the photos.

In the middle of the shoot I might bring the topic to creative shoot, or connection between model and photographer to lead my story. I'd say something like:

“ Every photographer has his own style. For me the more I am connected to my model the better shots I get. In fact some of my best shots come from women I have dated in the past.

I think for me that is the only time I can create art. I get to study them and their body for a long time. I know what angle and mood works best for them. I have studied them under different light and not to mention we have total comfort with each other - but obviously can't date every woman and every time I have to shoot.

Then I can point to a photo and say that is my ex. She was so funny. We took this photo when we were on a vacation in California. We both loved to travel and were on the plane at least one weekend a month. This photo was at Bodega Bay. I dared her to run bare top and I knew she would. I knew her slim tall body would look amazing on camera from behind. I did not want her to know that I was going to take a photo just to make sure I get a natural shot and this is what I got. She was crazy one of the only few women I know who was bold and daring. We had sex in every public place you can imagine. And the funny thing is when I first met her I did not even like her that much. I took her out for a coffee just because I like to be polite to all my models and like to maintain relationships for future”.

Now this is a very long story but because it is true it is easy for me to tell. I used this so you can see how I set up expectations for women when talking to them. Through this story I was able to tell her:

1. I date my models. It is ok to date me.
2. I have fun and fulfilling relationships.
3. My relationships are sexual in nature.
4. We should hangout because it is polite to do after work.
5. The more I get to know her the better her photos will be

By the end of this story I have painted a picture that we can also have a great relationship.

This story by it self won't do much but when you flirt with her, make eye contact, praise her body, form a connection, make her feel good about herself and show that women desire you – you will have a massive impact on her emotional state. She will experience strong desire to be with someone like you because of the way she feels around you.

And you will see obvious signs as she starts to like you. She will start to pose sexually. She will even start to flash her private parts. She will become comfortable talking about her personal and sex life.

When this happens you know she is into you and now you need to seal the deal.

I often ask them to step out with me for a drink or coffee before they head back home. We usually end up having coffee or drink at my place.

We then sit and talk and I use my teachings from Attraction Bible And Ultimate Dating System to make instant sex happen.

At first this may seem hard but it will get easy with time.

My sincere advice to you is to come to a live training workshop. I can help you master this skillset with women in less than 3 days. You will begin to have an amazing impact on women the day after you leave the workshop. You will learn how to talk women into dating and sleeping with you.

You do not have to limit yourself to meeting women online. You can just as easily go out to meet women for photography.

City downtown and tourist spots are great for meeting women. You can approach them and ask to take their photos. You can explain that you are doing an art project and need to capture them for it. Most women will say yes and couple may be shy which is ok.

If you are little nervous to approach, take a female friend with you. Most people always say yes when they see a woman with you. And you get used to approaching people.

You can then take their photo and offer to buy them coffee as a thank you. Now you get an instant date. Use the techniques from T.E.A.S.E. or Attraction Bible to start relationship or take them home for Instant Sex.

Or

Exchange email so you can send them the link when your project is done.

You can then send an email and start a connection.

You can also approach your neighborhood bars and clubs and volunteer to take photos of their patrons for FREE.

Many establishments will gladly agree.

Now you are the official photographer and have an opportunity to approach women and chat with them as you please. You can then invite them for a private shoot with you.

I have used this to meet women everywhere including train, plane, streets, shopping malls, bars and so on.
